The current pandemic has impacted the business environment severely with many businesses filing for bankruptcy as the business was shut down for a prolonged period of time. The small and medium scale businesses are finding it hard to run the day to day operations due to the lack of funds. With businesses failing every day the role of the corporate governance becomes increasingly important for both management and the shareholders. Keeping the above in mind, the Centre for Corporate Governance, XIMB is planning to host its first Webinar on 30th October 2020 from 4:30 PM to 6:00 PM. The topic of webinar is "Corporate Governance in Sick Organizations". The webinar should be helpful to the academic community (Faculty Members and Students) and the industry body through enriched discussion on various facets of corporate governance and how it has changed due to the recent pandemic. The discussion will also shed some light on the changed role of governance in sick organizations.
